Special Correspondence of The Star.
ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 3, 1911.
A meeting of the congregation of the Second Presbyterian Church will be held at that church at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, when a call will be extended to a minister. Prior to the meeting there will be a short devotional service to be conducted by one of the elders of the church and presided over by George Wise.
The congregation of Bethany Methodist Protestant Church will tomorrow night worship with the congregation of the Second Presbyterian Church, and a sermon will be preached by Rev. W. M. Folsom.
The Second Presbyterian Church has been without a permanent pastor since January 1, at which time Rev. J. R. Sevier resigned to accept a call to Atlanta, Ga.
The lecture room of the First Baptist Church will be used for the first time since the improvements at that church tomorrow morning.
The lecture room is one of the most attractive in the city. The work of remodeling the main auditorium of the church, located on the second floor, is now in progress, and will, it is expected, be completed early in August.
Plans have been completed by the 17th Virginia Regiment Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, for the observance of Jefferson Davis' birthday Monday night at Lee Camp Hall with a musical and literary program. The mem-

TO BRING BODY HERE OF FREDERIC A. KEEP
But Members of Family in Washington Know Nothing of Arrangements.

EDUCATION IS BAROMETER OF WORLD'S CIVILIZATION
Dr. U. G. B. Pierce Makes Address At Annual Commencement of Holton-Arms School.

Members of the family in Washington last night were still without information as to what arrangements are being made to bring to this city the body of Frederic A. Keep, who died suddenly in a message establishment in Paris.
At the residence of Miss Mabel Boardman, who is a sister of Mrs. Keep, it was stated that no advice had been received concerning the funeral preparations. The housekeeper, who was left in charge of the Keep residence on Sheridan circle, likewise was without any additional information.
According to Paris dispatches services for the deceased will be held at the American Church in Paris next Wednesday, after which the body will be sent to the United States.

Not Thought in Danger.
Mr. Keep, who suffered from arteriosclerosis, was not thought to be in imminent danger. He and Mrs. Keep sailed for Europe April 20. When he was found dead by an attendant in a message establishment in Paris, Kleber no papers were found in his clothing by which he could be identified. His body was taken to the morgue.
Becoming alarmed over his absence, Mrs. Keep sought the assistance of Mr. Mason, the American consul general in Paris. The body was finally located in the morgue, where it was embalmed.
During the past few years he and Mrs. Keep had divided their time between Washington and the capitals of Europe.

From the Springfield Republican.
It was Dom Perignon, Benedictine monk of the abbey of Hautvillers, who was the first man to close bottles of wine with corks, and thus first made wine effervescent. Champagne was merely a red wine when it was first introduced into England. Wine had been known for centuries in England, but it was not until the eighteenth century, about 100 years after the process was discovered.

to have some trouble in holding the men in their captured garrison.
The determination to bring them to the city was reached this morning after a conference between Alfredo Robles Dominguez, military head of the revolutionary forces in the south, and President de la Barra. Word was sent to Asuncion and at 10 o'clock the march to the capital was begun.
Instead of entering the capital immediately they will be quartered in Tlalpam and other outlying suburbs. The march was said to number about 5,000 cavalry and 3,000 infantry.
Gen. Bernardo Reyes will not arrive in Mexico City until after the 10th. He is not wishing to enter the capital until after Francisco I. Madero, who is due Wednesday, has his due at Yucatan Monday. It is expected he will go at once to Orizaba and there spend the intervening three days.
This morning Rodolfo Reyes, son of the general, accepted the post of sub-secretary of justice.
For the first time armed rebels entered the city today. They brought to the authorities a man accused of assassinating a Spaniard. Two days ago the Spanish minister made representations to the state department regarding the incident. The state department caused orders to be sent to the rebels in control of that part of the country where the crime is alleged to have been committed, and the entry of a squad of the new soldiers today was the result.
The departure of Jose Yves Limantour, former minister of finance, appears to have been modeled after that of Gen. Diaz. He slipped away quietly Thursday night, and the fact of his going being known only to a few intimates. He boarded his private car at Atzacapalco, a suburb. Accompanying him was his family, the former minister's son, a member of the federal district, Guillermo Landy y Escandor, who is accompanied by his father. Their destination is France.

Position of Insurrectos Has Become Perplexing

JUAREZ, Mexico, June 3.—With Francisco I. Madero out of immediate reach, the position of the insurgent army in northern Mexico today became perplexing.
Abram Gonzales, named as provisional governor of Chihuahua, was about to proceed to the capital when he received word that the minister of war would not allow him, with armed insurgents, to enter the city by railroad.
Unofficial advice was that the government was anxious to avoid bringing together the federal and insurgent forces, and that the federal forces would have to wait until the federal troops evacuate Chihuahua City.
About 5,000 federal troops under Gen. Villar and Rabago are concentrated at the capital. Outside the city 3,000 insurgents are encamped, and are soon to be reinforced by 1,000 or more, marching from Casas Grandes under Gen. Orozco.

Ship Bearing Castro in Harbor of Havana

SHIP BEARING CASTRO IN HARBOR OF HAVANA
Zelaya Also is on Board
Steamship Legazpi, According to Reports.
Special Telegram to The Star.
HAVANA, June 3.—Former President Cipriano Castro of Venezuela is on the Spanish transatlantic steamship Legazpi, anchored in the harbor here, according to reports. The authorities are watching the steamship, and Castro, who is in the second cabin under an assumed name, will not be permitted to land. Zelaya, his friend, is with him. Zelaya is bound for Port-au-Prince, it is said, will land at some Colombian port.
Gumerindo Rivas, who, when Castro was dictator of Venezuela, was the editor of El Constitucional, Castro's paper, and was associated with the Selva banking speculation, is also on board. He is with the projected attempt to overthrow Gomez, made an attempt to land Castro. In this he was frustrated by the sanitary harbor police and customs officials. He, however, exchanged signals with his former minister.
The Spanish minister here has intimated to the Cuban authorities that they must make no attempt to search the ship or to interfere with passengers in transit.

Objects to Castro Landing

Andrade, former president of Venezuela, the minister plenipotentiary at Washington, now here, has called the attention of the State Department to the friendly relations existing between Cuba and Venezuela, and requested that Castro be not permitted to land or to confer with the Venezuelan minister here, alleged to be plotting a revolt against the present government.
On board the Legazpi, it is said, Castro embarked at Malaga, but became ill, canceled his through ticket and landed at Havana. This does not agree with reports of passengers who have landed here. They say Castro left the ship at Cadix, re-embarked in the second cabin and is now booked for a Colombian port.
President Gomez, who has barred Castro, was formerly associated with him in the cattle trade between this island and Venezuela.

That is true friendship indeed which can stand the test of money borrowed.

BEST FOR AVIATION

Orville Wright Favors Long Distance Tests.
TRANSCONTINENTAL RACE
Offer of $50,000 for Coast to Coast Flight.

MORE ENTHUSIASTIC ABROAD
Declares That American Airmen Are in No Danger of Losing Their Leadership.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
DAYTON, June 3.—In spite of the recent European records made by Vedettes and Paris-Rome races, Orville Wright, America's greatest birdman and aeroplane inventor, said today that America is in no danger of losing her leadership in world aviation.
"Europeans are copying us more and more every year," he said. "Didn't we just get a decision in the French courts that says so?"
"I'll admit one thing, Americans are not the enthusiastic patrons of air sports that the French are. We have the men, we have the machines, but contests, flights of endurance, great aviation meets, but to us they cost more in real cash than money, not only to the projectors, but to us they cost more in real cash than the general public would believe."
"That is where the sport in this country is weak. Not the absence of the patronage hinders the businesslike development of the aeroplane in its mechanical details. I do not believe it hinders us. But prizes for real efficiency and endurance, rather than for daredevil stunts, would encourage our aviators to work for substantial improvements in apparatus and practice rather than for aviation field tricks."

Coast to Coast Flight.
"Mr. Hearst's prize offer of $50,000 for a coast to coast flight will mean great advancement in long distance flying in this country, though the prize must be further augmented before any aviator can go after it as a matter of business. Nothing is better for the development of aviation than long distance tests, when the mark is not set too far out of reach. Remember, this latest European flight, which read so much about this week was 1,300 miles, the longest ever made on the continent. This coast to coast flight would take up the matter along and 4,000 miles, even if the contestants did not get off their course."
"That race would be a good thing. If the offer is kept up long enough for us to improve our machines for maximum distance flying we will enter. As I said, a good business proposition and aviation is a business in America now. Our expenses in preparing for such a race would be fully $25,000 and it would probably require two or more machines to finish. One machine is seldom sufficient for a long race. They all used more than one. I believe, in the Paris to Rome flight, the machine was used for 100 hours. The kind of long-distance flying that they have seen in Europe of late months is easier than flying in a small enclosed space; it takes less skill."

American Reluctance.
"That fact is demonstrated by the number of comparative novices who have won honors by achieving the unusual in Europe in the last two years—the channel flight, for instance, which was comparatively simple. A European enthusiast will attempt a great cross-country trip before he has been flying a week. The American wants thorough training before he essays any deeds of daring."

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY.
William Hahn & Co. Arrange Special Sale This Week.
Preparations have been completed by William Hahn & Co. to celebrate this week the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the firm, and a special sale has been ordered to fittingly commemorate the event. The firm had its beginning in this city in 1876, when William Hahn opened a small shoe store at 1222 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, with only himself and an errand boy as the sales force. Today the firm owns and operates three large stores in this city, and has been ordered to fittingly commemorate the event. A few years ago the business was incorporated with William Hahn, his two brothers, Morris and A. Fred, and his three sons, Harry W., Edwin and Gilbert Hahn, associated in the company.
Sightseers at Atlantic City had something new when a dentist's clinic was held on the Boardwalk, and poor teeth were pulled under the view of the multitude. A dentist's convention is in session, and the dentist pulled teeth free in the open air at Tennessee arena. The writhing and grimacing and yell-calls much laughing and cheering.
